I recently I asked on Pat Zalewski's forum the following question.

me>BTW: Isn't it true that you changed the 5=6 ceremony to remove me> all references to Christian symbolism. Very interesting, just what me> have you been initiated into Pat. Sounds very Thelemic to me?

Pat replied this:

PZ> No you are lying. See page 126 of the Equinox and Solstice PZ> ceremonies of the GD which says different. Also see Gareth PZ> Knight's blurb on the back cover which also echoes what I wrote.

Not only does Pat call me a liar, but his quotes his own book as his defence. This is likened to a liar, calling an examiner a liar and then offering previous lies to protect current lies.

For the benefit the Golden Dawn community here is some truth on Pat Z.

Hi Leonard,
Thanks. You raise some very good questions. As a matter of interest
the OTR is currently thriving as it has had a big injection of new SRIA members from the Robert Felkin SRIA College which opened in Havelock North about 3 years ago. Many of these members are also members of the FRC (Waites) which has also (last year)
opened a Temple in Havelock North.

Several points about Pat. He was originally a member of the OTO before joining the OTR which led to him ex Whare Ra members.
Pat has always been rather anti- Christian and never liked the Christian emphasis which Felkin and other prominent Whare Ra people were, including about 20 clergymen and even a Bishop! Frank's father was a 5=6 member and also a clergyman. Did you know that apart from his father, Franks's
mother, sister and another brother were also members for a while.

You are right that Jack Taylor and most other Whare Ra people would never use Crowley or Regardie material. You are also absolutely right that Pat often attributes his own ideas and techniques to Jack Taylor (and indeed to other GD members including Mathers). Pat does this frequently in his books (I have numerous examples). So, yes, Pat certainly does claim things to be Whare Ra when they are not. The safest rule with Pat's material regarding whether or not it is Whare Ra or GD is unless you have actually seen a photocopy of the original document assume it is Pat's own work.

This is not really a criticism of Pat, who I have remained friendly with, but it is not a procedure I would ever adopt myself. But I do disapprove of it in the sense that it misleads people and is certainly inaccurate from the historical perspective. There are many people who read Pat's books who believe that they are reading and studying Whare Ra perspectives - sadly they are not with a few minor exceptions.

Also one has to remember that Jack Taylor had his own often rather eccentric views which were not necessarily shared by the Chiefs or other members.

I recently read on the Net an interview Pat did with for some journal. It is safe to say Pat stretches the truth a little. Pat was never a member of Whare Ra. HE NEVER WENT THROUGH THE GRADES AND INDEED, IF I RECALL CORRECTLY, ONLY WENT THROUGH SOME SORT OF ASTRAL VERSION OF THE 5=6 WHERE BECAUSE OF HIS OBJECTIONS TO CHRISTIANITY, CHANGED THE OBLIGATION AND OTHER PARTS. Likewise the 7=4 Grade, and I'm not sure about the 6=5 but I think this was also "given" astrally. Pat told me that for his 7=4 Jack sat in his wheelchair and got him to visualise the ritual. Pat admitted to me he had no idea what the various 7=4 signs or sigils were nor knew how the ceremony was supposed to unfold (it is actually very complex and the published ritual gives none of the directions - Frank provided me with this).

Pat does not carry any lineage (as he fully admits). The OTR does not really have any significant teaching apart from its rituals. It is a very interesting Order (I have the rituals and many other old papers from the OTR) - It reminds more of a type of GD version of a Masonic ritual.

Jack was a very interesting man who devoted his entire life to the Work. But he was decidedly eccentric and was never made a Chief because he was considered unstable. He actually left Whare Ra in the mid 1960s and devoted himself to the OTR. He changed the rituals (introducing Enochian which was never present before) and admitted women as members. By the time Pat met Jack he was in his eighties, very frail and in a wheelchair. By this time Jack believed that the GD system was no longer appropriate for the time (1980s) and while he was happy to help Pat and give his explanations, he also advised Pat (in a letter of which I have a copy) to "forget the GD" and work with other methods. So, there was no Charter nor lineage (which Jack was not entitled to give anyway).

Once again this should not be read as a criticism or put down of Pat but it is simply what I understand to be the accurate history.

Warm regards
Tony

/END EMAIL.

In the email there is a lot of information.

In summary, my original question was "BTW: Isn't it true that you changed the 5=6 ceremony to remove all references to Christian symbolism. Very interesting, just what have you been initiated into Pat. Sounds very Thelemic to me?" is a honest question, and given the information above, once again Pat Z has shown himself up for what he really is.

In my view: Given that Pat Z has 'never' gone through any G.D ceremony; and given that Pat's initial magical training is Thelemic OTO; And considering the fact that he changed the 5=6 to some kind of astral version (whatever that means) after removing the Christian

symbolism within the Golden Dawn ceremony... the following must be asked 'Just how valid can Pat's theological analysis and theories of the Dawn actually be?'

In my view Pat Z has mislead the public for years about the Golden
Dawn. And on a personal note, no person who has ever studied Aleister
Crowley would be particually impressed with Pat's ideas.. because to me they just seem to be rehashed Crowley.

Jean

P. Tony get your facts right and you certainly do not recall this correctly. This is crap. I never went through a 5=6 under Jack but straight into a 6=5. So that is first error. This is on record in this forum. Chris went to a straight 5-6 because we worked a temple prior to that. Jack re-worded my oath not because it was unchristian but because he did not want to bind me to not revealing it. Christianity had nothing to do with it. That is your second. You know this anyway and I have said this many times but you have obviously read into it what you wanted.

T..Likewise the 7=4 Grade, and I'm not sure about the 6=5 but I think this was also "given" astrally. Pat told me that for his 7=4 Jack sat in his wheelchair and got him to visualise the ritual. Pat admitted to me he had no idea what the various 7=4 signs or sigils were nor knew how the ceremony was supposed to unfold

P..I said I did not see the cube of the 7=4 or know what it looked like apart from Jacks description. I know the signs and in fact I gave them to Martin, and he will pass them on to others when required.

Jack
did have some difficulty with the first one sitting in a wheel chair but the others no problem.

For years you have acted like friend and have been third personing behind my back. You are not a trustworthy individual if you had any problems then you could have come to me and asked me straight to my face. Did I tell you the 7=4 signs of Whare ra, no I did not because you were not in the GD when you asked me and I sure as hell was never going to show them to you when you weren't in Order. You were in BOTA while living in the NZ. You never ran a temple there you think I was going to come across with them then think again.

I do not know what agenda you are running or what games you are playing at but you certainly did the dirty on Chic flat out saying one thing then denying it about being in his Order. You are trying run with the hounds and foxes Tony and it doesn't work. You owe Chic and Tabby a real apology.

Now Lenny is probably jumping for joy with all this chaos but you decided to teach that half wit and have to live with it, as I will with some of my choices. You come on like St. Francis of Assisi Tony but you are credit to your early career. You may as well go and play in the sand box with Lenny and Griffin as it would be a real bun fight to see has the most gongs and who is the truest GD Order and that is no doubt what you will push and good lick to you. I am on my journey now and really not care who claims what these days. Since we both turned 60 this year time is not on our side for this nonsense of the emperors clothes. I have claimed my ranks and work my own system and that is what I work with with. You can shove the rest of your opinions up your arse for all I care and you have shown your self to be a deceptive SOB and a man of straw.

Now you better cuddle up to your pal Griffin, and I am sure you'll get a great big kiss from him for standing up for truth, justice and the lineage way.

Pat

Dear Pat,

I am amazed as to what could have brought about this little tantrum. Other than Lenny resuscitating those old e-mails of mine (which we previously dealt with) and which he surely will keep on doing to eternity, I have not made any comment, apart from the statement regarding Jack Taylor where I agreed with the wisdom of you rejecting his advice.

Regarding the para. you quote from me about your 5=6, I don't actually recall this but it does sound like one of mine. Irrespective, however I must confess I can't understand why you are so upset. You obviously agree with me that you did not go through the Outer Grades, as I state, and now you are saying you did not go through the 5=6. Does this not say in other words what I was saying other than what is a new fact to me, namely that you did not go through the 5=6 either. In any event I stand corrected that you entered at the 6=5 rather than the 5=6 level. and I apologise for my error.

However, I must observe that the para. you quote would have simply been an honest answer to a question, put to me, namely; 'What Grades did Pat go through?' and I answered as I understood it. It should also be noted that in your first book you say (p.60), "When I was first initiated into the R.R. et. A.C. by Jack Taylor, I found myself at loggerheads with the Christian viewpoint in interpreting these energies". I hope you will agree that it was not an unreasonable assumption to make that you were referring to the 5=6, given the fact that this is the first of the RR et AC ceremonies where the Christian symbolism is most apparent.

<nthnyflmng@...>

Nevertheless, with this more recent news I am all the more impressed. Knowing how very strict the Whare Ra members were about the Grade system they clearly broke every single rule for you, not merely skipping all the Outer Grades but also the first vital Grade on the Inner. Evidently they fully recognized your high adept status and I congratulate you on this.

Actually I did not ask you for the 7=4 signs but whether you knew what they were. The reason why I asked you, if you can recall, was that there were a considerable number of errors in your published ritual and, trying to be helpful, I wanted to know if you wished me to give you these. Similarly, I pointed out to you that considerable errors and gaps were also in the 6=5, particularly the obligation. As I remember, you were not interested and said you had published it as you had received it. Yes I was active in BOTA but also simultaneously active with a dozen or so Whare Ra people who, with the blessing of John von Dodelszen (which I have in writing) wished to keep the Order going. Most have died since but three are still alive and in contact with me. We worked all the Grades and as I was not, alas, considered by them to be of your stature, was made to go through them all.

I have absolutely no agenda at all other than trying to ensure that an accurate account of events is portrayed and preserved. Sometimes, perhaps often, I make errors but these are genuine mistakes for which I will readily acknowledge, and where appropriate, apologise for. But I have nothing to apologise for, however, to Chic and Tabby. I was a nominal member of their board and occasionally, and probably unsuccessfully, tried to assist in a number of respects. For a variety of reasons not relevant here we parted formal company on good terms.

You are dead right about Lenny however. I also plead guilty to having often been naive in my dealings with people and this was one such instance. Another is where people have asked me for papers 'purely for their own study and wish to progress'. I have often acceded to these requests only to find them these very same papers published a few years later under their own name. I have never once been asked whether I am happy with this exposure. Since this appears to be a time for frankness I will acknowledge that it is for the above reason that I have evaded your several requests to me over the years for the higher grade rituals and papers (additional to those already given you) because I did not want them to be merely fodder for a new book. As you know I frequently helped you in editing some of your earlier books - this is a subject on which I could say more but will refrain from doing so.

Regarding David Griffin your comments are merely childish. My defence of his e mail and criticism of yours was solely a matter of pointing out that he had written an unemotional statement on several occult matters which he believed to be fact. These did not, I believe, deserve the sort of vitriolic response you gave him and which did you little credit. I am still of this view, and also of the belief that the term 'Exempt Adept' does not refer to any exemption from the normal courtesies which should characterise any exchange of views (still less between adepts) but rather to certain exemptions from being a slave to the passional self. Notwithstanding my coming across 'like St. Francis of Assisi' I am assuredly not a saint of any description. But I do try to live up to the obligations I took in various places, even though this often involves failure. This appears to be an unpopular habit.

Hit Tony

What happened was that before I started I put myself through all the rituals up to 5-6. Pretty much in the way Chic laid out in his self initiation book which was not in print then. I then started up a temple and worked the elemental rituals in group. I did what Mathers and Westcott did and self promoted myself from written material. Before I met Taylor he wrote and told me his astral contacts-whoever or whatever told him I was coming up to see him and give me as much help as possible. Oddly enough we had booked a flight up to the area a week before and arrived on doorstep the day after I received his letter. When we got there there was large group of ex whare ra members present and Taylor told them point blank that he was contacted astrally about our coming and wave the oath(as we were doing the rituals anyway) and help me with what I needed. Most of this is in the Secret Inner order Ritual Book. It took a year or so before he gave me the 6=5 (after I had been taught the "proper" elemental grades) and not straight away as some people have assumed. Taylor had two convictions as far as I was concerned. The first was his astral teachers or whatever told him to help us and the second was that he did not have much time left, as he was in his 80s, and we worked quickly. Taylor had been approached by a few people to teach the GD to them but refused. His main interest at that time was the OTR but he went back into the GD to help us due to his astral contacts. It was his contacts that opened the door for us. Without them we would have got nowhere. Who or what they were I do not know, but I do thank them.

When Professor Bob Elwood came to NZ for his book "Islands of the Dawn" and included the GD part (see our files section) I put him touch with Taylor's son, who was an ex where ra member and then OTR head; Bob got the same story as I have written above. The truth is I was shown a lot of things by different ex where ra members, and not just Jack. They all pitched in, rolled up their sleeves and helped.

Hi Samuel

You summed it up pretty well and the papers on the undines, gnomes etc form Where ra never had authorship attached to it, as you has deduced.

To make some of my works coherent I had to blend in different thoughts of different people with my own. If I would have said "this is from where ra" on every bit of teaching then the 0=0 and 1=10 books etc would be impossible to read. Where things were clear I placed them in modules like the inner teachings book and carefully explained where each part came from, a point Thomas did not mention. Tony's post on the Prince of Darkness' forum was essentially a good one and pretty well sums up the type of teaching except for the snide remark in the last sentence. Which I will address in part below

Where Ra had different teachers for each area and each went their own way to a certain extent. Frank salt for example wrote his own papers for his group. Jack on the other hand was another Gemini like me and was incessantly giving out information that was not always written. He was a feel person with remarkable clairvoyant gifts. So to work an established norm was difficult and what I did was say what the group I knew told me. I stress group here and not just Taylor. The course structure for each level was not always shown. The Nairns, who were under Frank were not given the standard course structure when they went through in the 1950s and Frank substituted biblical studies instead. Bill Oliver and the Gilmore's did the same did the same. So the Christian element was strong and often substituted for order teachings in some instances by more than one officer. Jack who was devout Church of England would not hear of it and said when they did that the GD was like Sunday School. Percy Wilkinson who was a leading light in the C of England also commented to me the magick element was being taken out of Whare ra by teachers like this. So In my book when I gave whare ra teachings I gave what I was told by essentially a group of people who lived in different areas and were taught by different teachers in different periods and that to me were the ingredients of establishing a norm. The OTR was the place where they all met and I worked in full ritual with many of these people over the years and also when they would turn up at Jacks, Jack would often tell them to take me down to the hall and show me. Some times Jack would come and sometimes not. So that is where my experience came from. I had my own temple at that point and was already initiating but had to go down to the OTR hall and start from the o=o up and work through each GD ritual and analyze it. I did this with Jack on his own and with a small of ex whare ra group at different times. That way they picked up my ritual errors, and there were many when learning form a book, and offered my much advice, a great deal of it is in my books. And today I am told, on another forum, that this does not count only a temple warrant from an approved GD AO school. So you go figure this one.

I would like point out a few things. Tony Fuller is an excellent Historian and I generally agree a great deal with his summations of Whare ra. Personally I would not trust him again as far as I could throw him (nor he me for that matter), but putting that aside, it in no way diminishes his knowledge which was got by knowing whare ra people, primarily through his work in BOTA and the papers he collected over the years. But Tony as a member of BOTA was never a member of the GD and never had a working GD temple when I knew him. BOTA of course would never allow this and he was the main man under Chesterman, who headed BOTA in that country. I worked with the Whare ra people in ritual from the OTR which also incorporated many GD teachings such as pentagram, hexagram, rituals and talisman work. I also had a chance to be trained in GD ritual with them by them taking me down to the OTR hall and showing me pertinent points of ritual that I needed more work on or could not understand from written instructions. So his views were though his own BOTA experience, the written papers he collected and having visits to elderly adept. Mine were though collecting papers and listening to stories and doing the GD and OTR rituals with the people concerned. So there would be differing viewpoints.

I praised Tony to the heavens in the introduction to my secret teachings book and do not regret doing so one iota today even in spite of the rift between us. He is the most knowledge man on the old GD history today, full stop period. My journey in the GD today is not the past though. I knew the GD was left unfinished and what I wanted to do was try and finish some of the teachings. To do this I went my own way. As Martin says I pick up patterns in the GD and extrapolate them.

The full levels of the 5=6 is an example of that by following the way Mathers was originally going in the ZAM and THAM. The view for these higher levels is clearly my own- but through Mathers frame for each level. That was pattern I deduced, and that is the pattern I use today.

Now we come to this 7=4 nonsense. I told a former student that was initially given the 7=4 without benefit of ceremony, in a hospital bed. This is true. What was not said that later Jack put me through in ritual in his living room, without props and me taking directions from Jack. So what you got was part of story that suited the agenda of the person stating it and who simply ignored the rest. The problem is that too many people knew about it. Jack told Chesterman, world head of BOTA who told Paul Clarke and many others. They knew it in the US before I went there in 88 and not form me as I was not published by then. Regardie also told a few. Nick Farrell also found this out when he worked with many of the same people I did in the OTR. So this half truth falls on its face. But this does not really matter as I do not use those rituals in my work.

I do not worry these days about who had what rank unless they make an issue of it. Rank only relates to what your are in your own temple and outside of it does not matter. It is who you are, what you are doing and what you have accomplished in a certain areas that count within a GD context. Either you know your stuff or you do not.

I Hope I have cleared up some points and misconceptions.

I noticed that Pat Zalewski's attack forum today posted yet another direct attack on Desmond Bourke and Druidry, indirectly attacking the HOGD/A+O today. I also notice that Zalewski has not addressed any of the issues raised either by myself or by his long time student and housemate, Sam Robinson, but merely demanded more proof of others like always.

I therefore attempted to cross-post the following post there. It was, of course, censored by Pat Zalewski. He just went on with his defamation business as usual thinly disguised with his usual pseudo-historical veneer.

Cross Post: Re: Why does Pat Zalewski keep attacking druidry?

When pressed about misrepresenting his alleged 7=4 initiation, Pat Zalewski quit attacking others long enough to deceitfully write today:

Notice how Pat Zalewski changes colors like a chameleon when his hateful and deceitful game is exposed like it has been again here in the last 24 hours. One day after attacking the lineage of the Druids and of the Alpha et Omega, Zalewski now states that he does not "claim" any "lineage." Notice that he still does not admit that he does not "have" any lineage though. In other words, Pat Zalewski is STILL misleading the public about this. It should be noted that Zalewski has INDEED openly misled the public about his "lineage" on many documentable occasions, yet still has not provided one single shred of evidence to back it up. For example, Zalewski published a 7=4 certificate for Israel Regardie signed by Zalewski, thus creating the misleading impression that Zalewski was somehow entitled to issue such a certificate! When pressed on this, Zalewski changes the subject, provides no proof whatsoever, yet continues to demand unreasonable proof from others, ignores all evidence, and claims that they have "no proof." Zalewski's latest attacks have been launched at druidry lynch-pin Desmond Bourke, as well as key druidry figure G.W. MacGregor Reid, as well as the Alpha et Omega. Notice how Zalewski demands "proof" from everyone but himself and becomes slippery and slimy as an eel when pressed on his own claims.

It should be noted that there have been extremely serious allegations raised by Pat Zalewski's former house mate and long time student, Samuel Robinson (aka Frater Maui). Despite Zalewski's attacking everyone from key SRIA members, key members of the Waite order and of druidry as well as the Alpha et Omega, Pat Zalewski has himself not provided one single shred of evidence to show that the allegations made by Robinson are not completely valid.

For the benefit of new readers, I am republishing below the "whistle blowing" Sam Robinson letters. In the first letter, Robinson accuses Pat Zalewski of lying about his 7=4 initiation (and consequently misleading the public about the lineage that goes with that grade). It also accuses Zalewski of lying about his experience with the Golden Dawn system and alleges that Zalewski had not done any GD real work in over a decade, far from the "25 years experience" that Zalewski has publicly claimed. The second letter exposes alleged Zalewski lies about the Thoth Hermes temple, and claims that in reality this "Temple" only existed for one year, 1999, didn't do much, and didn't even have proper temple equipment (but rather only 'cardboard' wands). The third letter alleges that Zalewski's Canadian temple is illegally calling itself "Golden Dawn," and that its Hierophant, Martin Thiebeault, is a major drug pusher!

 (Thiebeault is also the moderator of Zalewski's nearly defunct "attack" forum). In this third letter, Robinson further accuses Zalewski of deceiving the public about having received any valid 7=4 initiation (and consequently about the lineage that goes with this grade as well) and of improperly taking credit for Zalewski's wife, Chris's, work. Here are the letters:

 I was considering letting the whole G.D community know the truth,
 as there are many things Pat is saying that are not true, starting with his 7=4. You see he told me he never actually got the initiation. He did get the 'ritual of transmission of the etheric link' read out to him while Jack was laying down in bed. But as for the ritual of the 7=4 no, he did not go through it but has claimed for the last 30 years that he did. Another thing is his 25 years experience of G.D work, also not true. When I met him in 99, he had not done any G.D activity for 10 years, so people can for starters remove that from his 'experience' there are many other things like this, such as how his wife left him. I wanted to post it all out there in an official place like a forum or something where everyone would see it but decided not to because I don't like being too political. But those are the circumstanced and training with him although taught me many things, also was not all that it's made up to be. So what are you going to do about it?

 Thoth Hermes went for one year in 1999, that was it. He didn't do much though, he would initiate people using cardboard bits for the tools, and he would colour in things on paper and call it a 'wand' it was silly. Before that about another twelve years at least.

 Hi there
 Do you really hold the G.D trademark in Canada? You just shouldn't flat out let Martin Thibeault have the name full stop. That man is a bad guy, a really bad guy. In fact he is a drug dealer and I know because I had to work for him, I was taken to Canada on the understanding that all meals etc would be covered by him. When I got there he politely explained I had to work in his drug operations if I wanted to eat because he didn't have 'enough money.' He has some weird tactics. But I mainly left Pat because of his involvement with Martin, you know its not right and because Pat is claiming false things. Martin has created a false image of himself for his students, in fact if you went to the authorities you will find that they'd nail him because he owns a lot of property/assets etc but can in no way account for his source of money. Hell I even know where he keeps some of the drugs as I've been there and seen it all.

Pat does not really have a 7=4. He was given an honorary degree from Jack Taylor who transmitted him the etheric link ritual, but again he did not get initiated into the 7=4 degree.
Pat wasn't based on the fact he told me so, and that he has been making up teachings and attributing them to Jack Taylor quite often. He laughed and boasted and said I should do the same to him when he was dead. I don't think so!
I don't talk to anyone in the G.D at the moment. Pat has in fact got kicked out of his home because he was doing black magic on Chris Zalewski for years to keep their marriage together. He was binding her to make her stay. On the last fight she yelled at him and told him 'no more mantras.' And then he decided to let it go and see what happened. They made love, the next morning she snapped out of it, and told him their life was a lie and kicked him out. He fled to Australia.
His ego a bit because one thing I cannot stand are false claims in the G.D. He and many other have created a large career on false claims. He is quite the armchair magician too, never does any magic, and is also now claiming an extensive alchemy experience. However he is in fact taking credit for his wife's work as she was the one who did it all. And if she found out she would be quite pissed believe me.

Hi again

That story sounds right, I remember something about an 8=3 paper.

For what its worth, Pat did tell me a few times he was attributing his own ideas to Jack Taylor and laughed. Then he added that when he is long dead I should do the same to him. The main reason I left was because the system went no-where. 5=6 was interesting, however once I got to pats 6=5 I could clearly see it had no direction and totally lost spiritual focus. It was aimed at more intellectual study and had little to do with spiritual evolution. In fact I felt everything I had learned was of no spiritual value and had gotten me nothing, but getting me into trouble and depression. Another problem I had after some long and hard searching was with Frater C.N. I was flown to Canada on the promise that all meals would be provided etc. When I got there Martin politely explained I had to work in his drug houses if I wanted to eat, it was a depressing climax of where all of Pats teachings had taken me. The Cairns group ended up being a bunch of kids on drugs and Martin was no different. He even told me that he intended for his 5=6 members to also work in some of these drug houses. I made a big mistake getting involved. I was young and stupid, to ease my mind and karma I take part and charity events and had to spend a few months in Mexico helping disabled people.

The end result is, I wish I never met any of them. They are lying to themselves and the GD. Martin's explanation of why he was selling drugs was 'its for the good of the Golden Dawn' and I told Pat last time this would ruin the history of the GD. Its too late for that now.

Yes its marajuana but a high grade indoor grown version with connections to hundreds of houses like it, and I dont need to go on about suicide cults. The drugs 'allegation' is not an allegation, its a fact because I saw it, was stupid enough to get involved and had to pay for it karma wise in the finish. Martin is seriously into organised crime though, but selling guns, I dont know, he just said he would if he had to. On one side he imagines himself some sort of 'great g.d leader' and right now he's probably planning on having me shot for this. But as you noted I got ridiculed and everyone has been told 'maui is evil' or something. I stood back for a long time and watched my name be ridiculed and just silently got on with my own spiritual work. However until now Ive been quiet. I decided it was right to come out because I got sick of seeing all the BS Pat has continued to claim. Pat has claimed alchemy experience for example, when his wife did all the work. He also claims '30 years experience' when he knows well that when I met him in 1999 that he did not have anything to do with any g.d work for ten years, so you can count the practical experience only to 1988, because for the next six years I knew Pat he still never did any work to be experienced with (apart from one curse I once saw him do.) The whole course of instruction was mental masturbation and counted for nothing when venturing out in the real world. In fact my life got nothing but worse and worse the longer I studied with him, climaxing in max drug production in Canada with Martin. At first I was told it was all harmless fun, but the more I stayed with it the more depressed I got, it might be 'just marajuana' for some, but with bulk production people sooner or later get hurt, Martin said he had to 'beat up some black guy' and said 'you can never do drugs deals with blacks because they will always rip you off.' But aside from that the whole G.D there was like a slow brainwashing program, members not allowed to join certain groups, or certain forums, and the higher you go the more limited your life becomes. Members are told to say 'I seek to enter so that I may serve' and end up undergoing some sort of 'ego-breaking' method Martin practices, telling students that if they aren't submitting to his 'rules' it's because they aren't humble enough and therefore have an ego to overcome, next thing you know the members are bowing to the lord of the temple. When I saw that I told Pat and he said that's how it works. I left the G.D after seeing that because for me the G.D inner order is a Rosicrucian movement, which is meant to be more liberating, rather than setting up a miniature vatican with a pope.

Check them out and nominate your group.

That is my final say on it for now, I have better things to do, in LVX Fra Maui

Hi

Martin didnt coerce me into selling drugs at all, he coerced me (if I wasnt brainwashed) into producing them, and I saw more than one house set up like this where I had to stay because he has a huge operation running over there. Pat darn well knows about it all because I told him about it when it was happening and his answers was that he didnt care. In the finish I was basically told to shut up and after realising it was the biggest mistake of my life I got out, and have since been making amends with myself and communities with volunteering in community projects. Martins basic plan was to build a bigger temple with his drug money, and he told me straight that he would make money from guns, drugs or whatever, he didnt care where the money came from so long as it was for 'the good of the golden dawn.' He has one hundred reasons to justify it but its just wrong.

Hi my name is Gregory

Pat knows me well, as I studied with him in New Zealand

This will probably irk him, but some 20 years ago Pat told me he didnt have any sexual teachings on the Golden Dawn but had them from India from some guru of his. I thought then that the G.D also had no sexual teachings and Pats idea then was to make up his own and take the tantra, and he said he would tell people it was the real thing. At the time he had a big ego about it. So there you go he has drastically changed his mind about g.d sex teachings. But as I said, he knows me well and it will irk the hell out of him that I remember him saying it and our argument over it.

I always said 'Pat you're making up Golden Dawn teachings.' Having also been there, there were no chakra or seven rays teachings that I saw him teach in New Zealand which I see he is teaching now and saying came from Jack.

From memory he also once told me his Adeptus Minor was an astral initiation or something about being taken through it mentaly.

Best, Greg

I thought this was a good post from Pat.

He finally admitted he did not get initiated into the 7=4, which Maui originaly said.

In New Zealand Jack was considered a trouble maker at Whare Ra. He had not participated in whare ra activity for around 15 years so by the time Pat came onto the scene Jack had nothing to do whare ra at all, though Im not sure if he got expelled or what the story was.

No Pat was never initiated into the GD. Technically this 6=5 ritual he claims was never a GD ritual. It was a Felkin invention based on something to do with Steiner and anthroposophy and not GD at all. Further it was a Stella Matutina grade which was not Golden Dawn, clearly the GD only went up to Adeptus Minor.

To clarify my last example, Pat told me point blank he wanted to invent his own sexual teachings and tell everyone he got them from where ra. We had a yelling match over it and I said Pat you're making up teachings. When I saw Chris Zalewski last she regretted working the GD and said it was all a big mistake, adding that the life they had lived was all a lie.

Pat knows who I am, my last name is not Bohein but like him I had where ra connections. The last argument we had was that he wanted the 8=3 papers I had from where ra and he tried to claim some story that they were intended

Thank you for your honesty, Pat, in frankly admitting that you were never initiated in any grade of the Outer Order, Portal, or Adeptus Minor. Such honesty will go a long way in repairing the damage to your reputation caused by your having misled the public for so many years.

Again, I reiterate that I have nothing against a largely self-initiated person like you, Pat, leading a Golden Dawn-style order or even selling a questionable correspondence course for thousands of dollars like you and Martin are doing with your so-called, "Order of the Golden Dawn" money scam.

I do draw a line, however, when you try to use your author's ethos to mislead the public with pontificating, false statements about essential Golden Dawn concepts, such as the role of sexuality in the traditional Golden Dawn, as in the post that started this present thread.
